PETTY THIEVES AND THEFTS.

Thieves at the Great Stores.—A Eleptomanias.

A high city official had an exciting experience in a Fifth avenue boarding house not long ago. He was middle-aged but good-looking, a hachelor, and occupied the parlor floor. He had for years made the boarding house his home. One day a stylishly dressed young woman called and engaged board for herself and husband. The couple had not been long in the house before the woman picked out the parlor floor boarder forher victim. She threw herself in his way all she could. She smiled at him across the table, and did all she could to enmesh him. For two weeks she made no impression. But at the beginning of the third week the parlor boarder fell. He retuned the smirks and smiles, and the youns, beauty found that she had made an impression. Then her husband appeared upon the scene. He, too, smirked and smile, but left his wife in the boarder's cor pany. Things went on swimmingly for a week. Then there was a row. The Busband called the boarder into his room, and said that his wife complained of his attentions. He said much more, and much more horrible things. The boarder denied it all. The husband raved and stormed. He used vigorous language especially sprinkled with cuss words. He threatened exposure and arrest, but as that was unpleasant, he would be satisfied if the parlor boarder would make his wife a present of $500. The parlor boarder arose, and before the roomful of people denounced the woman as an adventuress and her husband as a blackmailer. There were screeches and tears and denials, and the husband threatened to sheet the handsome occurrence. mailer. There were screeches and tears and denials, and the husband threatened to shoot the handsome occupant of the parior floor. Pale and agitated that gen-tlemen poured forth the vials of his to shoot the handsome occupant of the parior floor. Pale and agitated that gentlemen poured forth the vials of his wrath until the dinner was forgotten, and men shouted and women fainted. Then a brawny detective who had been let into the plot, and who was waiting in the kitchen, appeared and offered the man and wife the choice of arrest or the restoration of the $500 and immediate removal from the house. They chose the latter, and in fifteen minutes they were on the street ready to begin operations over again. They were not proscuted because the city official did not care for notoriety, but the woman was one of the best known crooks in the country, and the man, who was not her husband, had served his time in half a dozen State prisons.

"There are so many dead-beats now," said the manager of a Broadway hotel, "that it requires the utmost vigilas ce on the part of our clerks and detectives to protect our guests and ourselves. All sorts of games are worked, and a dozen times a day we have to follow suspicious people around to see that we are not robbed."

"What do they take?"

"What do they take?"

"Oh, anything. A petty thief will steal postage stamps, bed-spreads, pillow-shams, towels, napkins, knives, forks and apoons. I know lots of men who go into our restaurant and try to swindle us by getting checks from waiters. The way they do it is this. Some fellow will come in to-day and get a forty-cent lunch. While eating it he will get a forty-cent check. This he will place in his pocket. Then he will get some dessert or fruit extra, and get a fifty or sixty-cent check from the waiter without exciting suspi-"What do they take?"

Then he will get some dessert or fruit extra, and get a fifty or sixty-cent check from the waiter without exciting suspicion. He will pay the smaller check, and the next day repeat the 1 rogramme with some other waiter until he gets an assortment of checks that will permit him to eat what he pleases, and pay as he pleases. Oh, yes; it requires eternal vigilance to successfully run a restaurant. Then the number of men and women too—yes, women—who, in a hurry, rush out without paying, is appalling. But we know all the tricks and by keeping a strict eye on customers do not lose Linch."

All the dry goods stores now employ detectives to watch customers, and many a woman of wealth and eminent respectability has been seen to take a plece of lace, or ribbon, or a pair of gloves, or a pocket handkerchief that did not belong to her. Skillful shoplifters manage to hide a roll of silk or velvet in the folds of their dress without exciting suspicion, and the losses to the dry goods stores from that source alone foot up into fortunes every year, but it is the petty, respectable this ves that give the most trouble and annoyance, and very often their stealings are permitted to go on rather than lose a good customer. One la ly in New York who is famous for her wea th and charity is spotted as soon as she enters a store. She helps herself to things that do not belong to her in the most bungling fashion. Every man and woman behind the counters knows her, and a record is kept of what she takes. These things are all itemized and the bill sent to her husband who is a down-town commission merchant. He knows his wife's failings and pays the bill with-ut a murmur, for he know if he did not exposure and diagnose would follow.

Charling Her Jewelry.

Guarding Her Jewelry.

The shrewdness of women sometimes unifers an eclipse in ordinary affairs, but when it comes to hiding jewelry it discounts that possessed by men and still has poluts to spare. Take, for instance, the case of the St. Psul woman who has more diamonds that she can wear with comfort at any one time.

She puts the stones in a box, puts the box in a rag-bag, puts the rag-bag on the closet floor, and at night puts the watch-dox in the closet on the top of the rag-bag, locks him in there, and every night hides the key in a different place.

Her husband says if she had her way she would arm him to the teeth and put him in the closet with the dog.

That a diminishing quantity of meney reduces the price of labor and property, enriches the creditor, impoverishes the debtor, and paralyzes industry and enterprise.

reduces the price of labor and property, enriches the creditor, impoverishes the debtor, and paralyzes industry and enterprise.

That the present financial system of the United States, which increases or diminisher the circulating medium at the pleasure of the manipulators of the national larks, without regard to the increase of population or the wants of the people, and which recognizes gold alone as the standard of value, and places in the hands of the Treasury Department all the revenue of the Government to -peculate with in bends and loan to the national banks without interest, is subsersive of the rights of the people, oppressive, unjust and should be repudiated.

That a financial policy whereby both gold and silv raball form the basis of irculation, whether the money used by the recople be coin, or coin certificates redeemable in coin, or both, as convenience may require, is imperatively demanded.

That the attenpt to substitute national bank notes, costing the Government millions of dollars annually, for free silver, costing nothing, is an outrage up r the recople; that the money ring or trust, which has usurped the sovereign power of the Government for private speculation, shocks the moral sense of the people and destroys respect for gove ament and law. We demand that the ring or trust be destroyed, and equal rights he restored to all the people.

We charge that President Cleveland is the willing tool or agent of a powerful money ring, which fattens on the subsidies of the Government, borrows the expense of the Government, borrows the revenues raised by t xation and uses the mythout the payment of interest, contracts the earlies of the Government and law. wich he either as agent or head, is most solive in defending.

We charge President Cleveland with violating every promise he made in favor of civil service reform, with cripping the mail service, with refusing to sign necessary bills for the improvement of rivers and harbors with using the power of his administration to prevent appropriations for navy and coast defenses, with attempting to destroy the protective lariff, with court ling the good will of other nations at the expense of the ditiests of the nited States, and with joining the foreign bondholderaito demoneitie cliver and destroy the industries of his own country, and for the reduction of the wages of the Mint empleyee at Carson, for closing the Carson Mint when it was not only self-austaling but a source of revenue to the Government, for his contemptuous vetoes of bills for the relief of diabled solders and sallors, and for failing to construct the Government build ng at Carson as required by law.

IV.

We are in favor of the absolute exclusion of thinese, and of the restriction of immigration by which the overcharged condition of the labor market is made worse, and we favor legislation by which a revision of our naturalization and land laws may be accomplished.

We demand in behalf of our various in dustries the retention of the duties on lead borax, sods, hides and leather, and to restore the tariff of 1.67 on wood.

RESOLVED, That we recognize the right of labor to organize for its inwful protection.

We favor the appropriations by Congress for hydrographical and topographical surveys in the State, to the end that the waste waters may be preserved for the purpose of irrigation.

tative oodburn in behalf of the Interests of this State.

They cannot understand that the Republican candidate is a that the Republican candidate is a got on board and the party will man that stands upon his own and reach Washington to-day. his party's record, and that his campaign is conducted upon no other basis. Their theory of a Presidential candidate, exemplified in the choice of Cleveland, is to select a nonentity, a man without a record, against whom nothing could be said because nothing at all was known, and then muzzle him so that he could not peep and wait for results. Thus it himself upon every subject excites them to extreme apprehension and they regard his conduct as the extreme of temerity. All the more are they shocked at it when they hear the Republican candidate speaking as follows: "You may not notice the advantage of having a home market so much in the appreciation of the prices of the staple products of your farms, but you will notice it in the expansion of the market for those more perishable products which cannot reach a distant market and must be consume I near home. Is it not, then, time for you, as thoughtful citi-

Traitorous Public Servants.

THE Texas stockraisers, laborers and graziers in State Convention assembled, called upon their representatives in Congress to restore the tariff on wool, an industry in which the State is vitally interested, more capital being invested in the business of wool-growing than in any other. Yet when the proposition was made to put wool on the free list not one Texan Congressman went to the assistance of the wool-growers of the State. The passage of the Mills bill now means the free introduction of foreign wool. With that sheep-raising in the Nation comes to an end, a prominent industry of Nevada will have to be abandoned, and mutton which has been the cheapest of meats, the meat of the poor, will be a luxury upon the tables of the rich. It is, perhaps, unnecessary to state that the Texan Congressmen who have aided the Cobden Club thus far in its scheme to throw open the markets of this country to the facmarkets of this country to the factories of Great Britain, will never be allowed to again occupy the seats in Congress which they have so unworthily filled or be elected to any position of trust by the people of the Lone Star State.

Five Ladies Browned. New York, Aug. 10.—There was an awful secident last night during on the Deleware river. A com pany of five ladies were in a boat enjoying a sail, accompanied by two men. A severe storm came up and a squall of wind struck the sail boat and overturned it. The entire party was thrown into the water and the five women were drowned. SCHOFIELD'S ARRANGEMENTS. WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.-General Schofield and three of his staff arrived here last night for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for General Sheridan's funeral. He will issue tickets of admission to St. Matthew's Church to the President and Cabinet, heads of departments and members of the House and Senate and individually. The church will seat about one and wait for results. Thus it happens that the freedom with which General Harrison expresses himself upon every subject excites ment from the regular army and a detail from the Loyal Legion. The funeral procession from the church to the grave will be strictly a military one. No place will be made in the line for members of the Grand Army of the Republic. Charles Laurent, editor of Le Paris, says in his paper: "The Royalists, Bonapartists and Bounangists, three heads now wearing the same cap or crown. may now take back the uncalled for prize they would have been so happy to bestow on the Cabinet. The expected grand field day, so confidently discounted at Brussels and in the Rue de Montmartre, leaves the Republic to-night as steady as ever, as determined to defend itself against the real enemies on the self against the real enemies on the Right, and as able to make itself respected by instigators of vio-lence, whoever they may be."

A DANGEROUS CRISIS PASSED. Paris, Aug. 10-It is generally onceded that the Government passed through a dangerous crisis yesterday with success, and demonstrated the ability of the Republic to preserve law and order. The remainder are held for further examination. It is now evident there was little or no organization among the Communists or other bodies present at General Eudes

A BRITISH LOVE FEAST. England Cinims Not to be Responsible for Ireland's Poverty. LONDON, Aug. 10 -The Lord Mayor gave a banquet at the Mansion House last evening in honor of the Cabinet Ministers. After the banquet a number speeches were made. The Lord Mayor, in reply to a toast to the health of Lord Salisburry, said the Government did right in defending the unity of the Empire.

The PrimeMinister replying said the Local Government bill had solved the difficulty of the problem of how to govern London without doing injury to valuable privi-leges of the country. The bill de-creased the debt and increased the national credit. Regarding Ire-land Salisbury said the great curse of the country was its poverty. The Government was not able to diminish poverty or enrich men, but it could enable men without interference to enrich themselves. He claimed that the Irish Government had been successful in lessen-ing the tyranny exercised by asso-ciations over the Irish people, and that it increased the sanctity of contracts. If the Government of Ireland were administered for a few years with the same judgment and firmness as now liberty and prosperity would be restored to the country.

DEATH OF JOHN WILSON.

Proncer of Reno Summoned to Stis Long Rest. In the death of John Wilson, which occurred last evening at 7 o'clock, Reno loses one of her best and most re pected citizens. . Mr. Wilson has en identified with the town ever since its inception, and for many years gressive and enterprising of its citi-sens. No one ever had a larger circle sens. No one ever had a larger circle of friends or will be mourned more sincerely than he, and although his death will be looked upon by those who loved him as a Godsend, many an old-timer will drop a tear when the clods fall upon the coffin of Johnnie Wilson. In company with Nelson Hammond, who, like himself, was an old stage-driver, he established himself in the livery-stable business and during the flush times he amassed considerable property, among which was the Newada Theater. During the past decade misfortune has followed steadily in his footsteps, and to-day his wealth will not aggregate $5,000, if that. Mr. Wilson has been an invalid for nearly four years, and during the past year has been incapable of taking care of himself, softening of the brain having resulted. He was a native of Columbus, Indiana, and in his 58th year when the summons came. The funeral will take place from the Newada Theater building to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A DELUSION AND A SNARE.

Opera House last evening, and the veterans and young bloods present awaited the rising of the curtain with visible impatience. When the ting-aling ling of the stage manager's bell aned that the expected fun was about to begin, there was a universal grunt of satisfaction. The appearance of the alleged beauties, did not result as expected, and the sudience soon realized that they had been gulled. From the enthusiastic pitch into which they had worked themselves in anticipation of the expected treat, they quickly sank into a despondent mood which even the comicalities later on of Seamans, the superb juggling of Lee, the skipping rope act of Ida Siddons and the eccentric evolutions of Sara could not dissipate.

The entertainment as a leg show was fairly passable, the singing, with one exception, execrable, and the acting would have disgraced supers in a dive. The grand Amazonian march, baseball club, police brigade and tobogganing club, which have been so extensively advertised as bring performances of great merit, were, in the language of a gallery god, very "snide," the performers in each specialty being seven females of uncertain ages, and all more or less imbued with the idea that all was required to carry the conformance to a successful conclusion. about to begin, there was a universal idea that all was required to carry the performance to a successful conclusion performance to a successful conclusion was to liberally display their lower limbs in a variety of colored tights and as often as possible. It is true there have been many worse shows in Reno, but the dissapointment of last evening proved too much for many, and the saloons did a thriving business for several hours after the performance. This morning R. E. Morse stood on every corner, and red-eyen regret was visible everywhere.

THE MORMON OATH.

A Subscriber Discusses the All-

Important Question EDITOR GAZETTE: I read the editorial in yesterday's GAZETTE with interest and commend the spirit of it. Everyone residing in Nevada is entitled to certain rights and privileges under the constitution and laws of the United States and the State. That in the passage of the law which di-franchises the so-called Mormon element of the State the law-makers overstepped the constitutional limit is quite certain. Section 1 of Arti le 2, which relates to the right of suffrage, which relates to the right of suffrage, reads as follows:

Section 1. Every male citizen of the United States (not laboring under the disabilities named in this Constitution) of the age of twenty-one years and upwards, who shall have actually, and not constructively, resided in the State six months, and in the district or county thirty days next preceding any election, shall be entitled to vote for all officers that now are or heretofore may be elected by the people, and upon all questions submitted to the electors at such election; provided, that no person who has been or may be convicted of treason or felony in any State or Territory of the United States, unless restored to civil rights; and no person who, after arriving at and no person who, after arriving at the age of eighteen years, shall have voluntarily borne arms against the United States or held civil or military office under the so-called Confederate States, or either of them, unless an amnesty be granted to such by the Federal Government; and no idiot or Federal Government; and no idiot or insane person shall be entitled to the privilege of an elector.

By reading that clause of the constitution carefully it will be seen there are more of the provisions of the statute referred to by you in your editorial set forth, hence, the Act is clearly unconstitutional, and must fall, as did that part of the Act of 1989. that part of the Act of 1864 which prescribed the form of an oath, and among other things required the af-fiant to swear that he had not since he arrived at the age of eighteen years voluntarily borne arms against the United States, or held any civil or military office under the so-called Confederate States or either of them; befederate States or either of them; be-cause the constitution provided that one having done so was not entitled to vote, unless an amnesty be granted to such by the Federal Government, which amnesty had been granted. It is quite evident that the framers of the bill, and those who favored it, had not read the decision rendered by Judge Lewis in the case of Davis vs. "McKeeby in 5, Nevada Reports, page 369.

THE NEVADA STATE FAIR.

The Producers of Elko County Counseled to Make an Exhibit. The Elko Independent of the 8th instant publishes the following:

instant publishes the following:

The citizens of Elko county should not let political matters absorb their attention to such an extent as to exclude all interest in the annual exhibition of the Nevada State Agricultural Society, which will be held at Reno commencing on the 17th of September. Every citizen of the State has an interest in the success of the enterprise, as it is conceded that a friendly rivalry in exhibiting the various products of the State stimulates the producer to further efforts in developing the resources of the various industries, and thereby enlarging and extending the resources of every branch of business prosecuted by the enterprising people of Nevada.

Elko county stands in the front rank as regards wealth, enterprise and gen-

yesterday from a tour of visitation and inspection in Butte county, California, and comes home an enthusiastic and appreciative admirer of that favored land. From his rapidly given statements, a GAZETTE representative gleaned the following, which may prove of interest to many of its readers: He observed that Butte county is just north of Marysville and includes an extensive area of the richest lands bordering on the Sacramento River to the west and including the magnificent stretch of plain and woodland which is watered by the Feather river. Along the latter stream are some of the most marvelously fertile soils to be found in the world. The climate is of that perfection which perints the maturing of almost every tropical product except the date paim—while equally kindly and adaptable to every crop which is associated with the more northerly latitudes. Stretching a way to the north and east are the equally favorable foothill regions, including the gold fields of Oroville and the majestic forests California, and comes home an en- Truckee railroad yesterday: the equally favorable foothill re-gions, including the gold fields of Oroville and the majestic forests of the Sierra. Just now is the beginning of an era in Butte county which promises not only remarkable local prosperity, but which is to place California, as a State, far in the lead of any other member of the Union as the home of a cultured, vastly, numerous and prosperous people. Family life is to be realized there in all its blessedness in connection with scientific, remunerative and an always uccessful production of the fin fruits and cereals in the world. These things have already been realized there in a noteworthy degree from the desultory experimentings of the older settlers, and Butte county starts upon its newer career as an already rich and prosperous county and people.

But its richest soils and greatest areas have singularly been pre-served for the later and nobler developments.

Rio Bouito, along the west bank of the Feather river, is in the heart of these favored regions. The climatology and limitless fertility are already well known to the bet-ter informed and leading men of the State, who, without exception, point to it as the equal and super-ior of Fresno, Los Angeles and other California localities that have been greatly advertised and are somewhat better known in the East. Judge Harris took twenty acres of the land from Messrs, Preble & Young and will enter at once upon its development as one of the colonists of Rio Bonito. He is delighted with its countless advantages as a location. It is near to the California and Oregon railroad, and but little more distant from the other railroad leading from Oroville to Marysville. It is also convenient to river navigation and the leading towns of Chico, Biggs, Gridley and Marysville. The county seat, Oroville, is but a few miles away in another direc-tion. He is satisfied that any family which desires a healthy climate and a healthful and charming life failure is hardly known, either in climate or soil—have there a splen-did opportunity to establish themselves most happily. All desirable accessions to the community are heartily welcomed by the people of Butte. Messrs. Preble & Young, he says, have done extraordinarily well in their enterprise at Rio Bonito, and with their ceaseless and well directed energy are doing a grand work in opening up such splendid areas to popular accessibility.

Judge Harris expects to return to Butte again in about two or three weeks. Those who wish to know more about the Rio Bonito country ought to see him and hear what he has to say about it.

RELIEF COMING.

Water to be Nent Down from the Mountains To-morrow.

County Clerk Julien this morning received the following communication from W. H. Kruger, manager of the Truckee Lumber Company, which conveys good news to the ranchers whose crops are suffering from the scarcity of water:

TRUCKEE, August 9, 1888. T. V. JULIEN—Dear Sir: We will turn on water to-morrow and will not disturb it till next Tuesday after that This, I trust, will give ample opporto test the water question. truly, W. H. KRUGER.

Yours truly, This action on the part of the Truc kee Lumber Company is due to Mr.
Julien, who, realizing the importance of early action, quietly proceeded to Truckee, laid the case before Mr.
Kruger, who readily grasped the sitnation and promptly proposed selicities. uation and promptly promised relief. As stated in the letter water will be turned on to-morrow morning and the Tuesday next. This will give plenty of water for irrigation purposes, as the machers will have to-morrow, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in which to irrigate. Every farmer should take advantage of the flood, which, if properly utilized, will be sufficient to insure a profitable harvest.

"You have already learned by Mr. Mercer's letter that Senator Stewart has suggested to the Secretary of War the propriety of establishing a military post at Reno. I enclose herewith a copy of the reply of the Department. The suggestion in General Howard's letter (quoted by Chief Clerk Tweedale) that Reno would be a good post in a few years is inducement enough to keep up Senator Stewart's hopes that he can secure the establishment of such a post, and it will, perhaps, be there before General Howard exprests." there before General Howard exped

WARNER'S SAFE CURE WELL-KNOWN DOCTORS AND LAW-YERS IN WALL STREET.

The Pate of Professional Mon in Speculation-Examples, Past and Present, of Failure and Defeat. *Copyright 1888.)

*Copyright 1888.)

The case of ex-Surrogate Robert C. Hutchings which has latterly excited so much comment in New York calls attention not merely to the interesting circumstances attending his shameful downfall but to the fact that he is one of a considerable number of professional men who have become more or less distinguished in Wall street and elsewhere in the business quarter of the metropolis. Hutchings was the son of a furniture dealer who gave him a legal education. The young lawyer married the daughter of Richard B. Connelly, the infamous comptroller of New York under the Tweed regime, and known everywhere as "Slippery Dick," the most despicable in his avarice and slyness of any of the cottric that once plundered New York with a high hand. With the money derived from his marriage, and one million dollars left to him by the exiled comptroller, Hutchings cut quite a money derived from his marriage, and one million dollars left to him by the exiled comptroller, Hutchings cut quite a swath in Wall street where he was known as a "high roller." That is to say, he did not speculate on so large a scale as such operators for example as Addison Cammack, who is now understood to be short some twenty fivethenaandshares of Lake Shore, but he would nevertheless at times swing a line of ten thousand shares of stocks, and for a while he was quite successful. Finally he met with some reverses as all speculators pure and simple do. The man of millions if he stays in the game long enough will meet the fate of the man with a few hundred; he has more money but he speculates on a larger scale and can lose more. Hutchings finally went to Paris and he has been sent to an insone asylum there. He is sent to an insane asylum there. He is still very wealthy and his relatives are quarreling over his property about asthey would if he were dead. His insanity it is anid in Wall street is due to excesses.

As to professional men who drift into speculative circles, there was a physician among the shouting brokers of the Stool among the shouting brokers of the Stock Exchange a few years ago who met with strange viciasitudes. He had a wealthy brother who greatly aided him but finally committed suicide at the old St. Nicholas Hotel on Broadway. The broker, who was educated as a physician, had no business capacity whatever and after his brother's death met with so many reverses that he was obliged to sell his seat in the Stock Exchange and then step by step he descended the ladder until he became a conductor on a street railroad. An old broker was thunderstruck at seeing him filling this position and said on leavhim filling this position and said on leav-ing the car: "My friend, I am sorry for you; accept this," and he handed the man who was once a physician, then a well-known figure on the Stock Exchange and at that moment ringing up fares on a street car, a liberal present. Another physician once well known in Wall street was Dr. Shelton. Every night

Wall street was Dr. Shelton. Every night about nine o'clock a man past seventy, short and cadaverous enters Delmonico's 20th street establishment, drinks a bottle of beer and then slowly shuffles off homeward. It is Dr. Shelton, once as well-known in Wall street as Jay Gould is to-day. He was one of the famous speculative triumvirute composed of Jacob Little, Leonard Jerome andhimself. A man who awung a line of five thousand shares was a big operator before the war or in the earl, days of the great struggle and that was about the usual limit of these men. They all met with reverses. Jacob Little fell senseless in the boardroom when the market struck him a blow that ruined him; Leonard Jerome was lured ruined him; Leonard Jerome was lured into a speculation that cost him three-quarters of a million, and Dr. Shelton did not escape unscathed. His son is on the board but he himself lives on whatever Wall street has left him.

Lawyers are well represented in New York's financial world. Austin Corbin, Alfred Sully, Chauncey M. Depew and S. V. White all received a legal training.
Mr. Depew was formerly the head of the brokerage firm of Depew & Potter. S.V.
White made a moderate fortune as a lawyer at Des Moines, Iowa. He passed his summer vacations at Saratoga where he met brokers who induced him to spec-ulate in stocks. He did so and lost so ulate in stocks. He did so and lost so heavily for three or four years that he finally found himself comparatively poor, whereupon he decided to come to New York, join the Stock Exchange and get his money back. His success has vastly exceeded his expectations.

Dr. Norvin Green, President of the Westorn Union Telegraph Co., was once a practicing physician in Kentucky.

The President of the Cotton Exchange, J. H. Parker, was formerly practicing medicine in Charleston, South Carolina. Heals a member of all the Exchanges in this city from the Stock Exchange down, a bold but shrewd business man worth a million or more.

million or more.

Robert J. Wingate, of the Cotton Exchange, was educated at West Point in the days when the term was five years. Like Elmund Clarence Stedman, the poet, who had to leave Yale for some college pranks, Caclet Wingate, abbreviated his term a little by reason of the celebrated "Benny Havena Oh." He was in the class with Sheridan. He was well advanced in his studies and had an important place on Gen. A. P. Hill's staff in the Confederate army.

George Moore, the cotton broker, was educated as a lawyer in Canada, and Thomas Foote, in the same business, read law in Miliard Fillmore's old office in Buffalo.

George B. Cooksey, the son-in-law of Buffalo.

George B. Cooksey, the son-in-law of David Dow, the millionaire financier and grain merchant, and who succeeded to his business at the Produce Exchange, was educated as a physician.
Samuel J. Tilden, who was so skilful as a railroad lawyer that he could charge fifty thousand dollars for drawing a lease, was very shrewd as a speculator but in his latter years he paid little attention to Wall street. When a broker suggested a tempting speculation the old statesman would whisper: "No, I have money enough, so there is no incentive to speculation if I could make more, while at the same time I should run the risk of losing."

FIVE PIRATES BEHEADED.

A Former Naval Officer Tells the Story of a Bloody Execution in China While attached to the United States steamer Wachusett then cruising in the waters of the Asiatic station, we happened to be sent to Canten to protect some of the American merchants who fancied that the Chinese, who had been making threats, were going to give making threats, were going to give them trouble.

On one occasion we were ashore under the guidance of a Chinaman and seeing everything curious that was to be seen, when through the streets came a large body of troops guarding five mencarried in flat baskets suspended on bamboo rods from the shoulders of coolies.

"Sam, what are they going to do with those men?" we asked.

"Oh," said he, "they are pirates and the troops are going to cut off their heads."

We followed, and in a short time came to an open courtyard just off one of the main thoroughfares of the city. The soldiers filed in on each side, and the mandarin, who wrote the blue button, seated himself in a chair.

A great crowd of people had followed, and the sentinels at the gate had great trouble in keeping them back. We were in uniform, and when we were seen by the officer of the guard he called the attention of the mandarin to the fact.

We were immediately escorted to a place of honor beside the mandarin, who rose and bowed his respects; and told ear guide to explain to us why he was there and why those five men were to lose their lives.

They had been caught in the act

They had been caught in the act of piracy on the high seas by an English gunboat and turned over to the Chinese authorities for trial and punishment. They had had speedy trial, the act of piracy having been committed six days before.

While this explanation was going on the five prisoners were made to kneel on the ground in Indian file, their "queees" were coiled up on the backs of their heads, and with a slight inclination the backs of their necks were made parfectly bare. An officer was sent for the executioner, and he appeared, making the salute to the mandarin.

The mandarin rose and read the war-rant of execution. The utmost stillness prevailed. On the faces of the people who had flocked to see the executions an expression of fear and anxiety was de-picted.

drawing a long, narrow knife from un his robe awaited the order. The supr drawing a long, narrow knife from under his robe awaited the order. The supreme moment had come: five lives were to be taken. The men in the rear could see every movement of the executioner and of the man in front of him. To the "outside barbarian" it was a fearful moment.

A command was given, and in an instant the knife was in the air and in the next moment a head lay on the ground. A great fountain of blood spurfed from the neck, and the executioner was beside the next man. Again the command, and a headless hedy the result, and in less than the time it takes to write this line the five men were beheaded.

We ran to the bodies in our curiosity to see if any muscular action was taking place, but there was none beyond the slowly closing cyclids. The law was vindicated. The troops formed in line, the heads were put in the baskets that lately carried the bodies of the pirates, and the march was resumed through the city. In answer to our question as to what would be done with the five heads, we were told that they would be placed on the walls of the city as a warning to all evil doesn.

An Offset Claim. A hired man who has been employed on a farm in this county entered suit against his employer the other day for the balance of his wages, amounting, as he claimed, to $63.

It looked at first as if the plaintiff had a clear case. He gave dates and figures in a straightforward way. Wish the farmer took the stand he said: "I claim an offset for that $32, for I honestly bwe it." "What is your offset?" said the lawyer.

"He is an unbeliever."

"He is an unbeliever."
"In what?"
"Why, in the Bible."
"Why, in the Bible."
"Why, in the Affect to do with your justly owing the $22?"
"It had a heap to do with it. I had six hands in my employ, and we were hurried when I hired this man.
"He had not been with us two days when he stopped the reaper in the middle of the forencon to dispute about Daniel in the lion's den, and in three days we had a knockdown on the whale swallowing Jonah. The man who runs the mower got to arguing about Samson, and drove over a stump and damaged the machine to the extent of $16. The next day my boy broke his leg while climbing the fence to listen to the row that was going on over the children of Israel gain't thro' the Red Sea. Worst of all, my wife said she didn't believe Elijah was fed by the ravens, and, hang it all, I found myself weakening over Noah and the food.
"That is my offset, sir, and if he was worth anything I'd sue him for $1,000 besides."—Farmer's Magazine.

Johnny, who is four years old, was playing in the yard one day, and a lady who lives close by wished to have theeggs, if any were laid since her last visit to the hennery, brought in. She said to the little boy:

"Johnny, will you go to the hennery and see if there are any eggs there? Don't bring in the china ones; leave them there, but if there be any others bring them in."

Johnny started to do the bidding, and soon returned with two or three brokes eggs and his pinafore soiled.

The lady, seeing him coming, exclaimed:
"Oh, Johnny; how did you break the eggs?"

Johnny looked at her in surprise, and "How could I tell whether they were hina eggs or not, if I didn't try them?"
